

Greetings from OneOp Family Development,

This month, OneOp launches our month-long annual Military Family Readiness Academy series! This year will engage learners on social justice for family well-being. The 2022 Academy, Family Well-Being: Navigating the Social Justice Landscape, features high-quality content from diverse course authors and experts in subjects of social justice, racial equity, identity formation, media representation, resilience, engagement through an antiracist lens, and building communities of belonging.

The June 1 kickoff event will feature Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Military Community and Family Policy, Mrs. Patricia Barron, and USDA/NIFA representative Dr. Brenda Martin, to welcome attendees and encourage participation in the 2022 Academy series. Mrs. Barron and Dr. Martin will also speak on the importance of this topic for providers, military service members, and their families.

Attend our live panels in June and take our three self-paced, asynchronous courses to join us in addressing the intersections between engaging a social justice mindset as a family service professional and supporting the health and wellness of diverse military families.

Family Well-Being: Navigating the Social Justice Landscape asynchronous courses focus on a personal and professional understanding of social justice and equity, and the nuanced intersections of privilege and oppression. Courses offered will be:

- Introduction to Social Justice Lenses for Family Well-Being
- Family Service Providers: Recognizing and Responding to Inequities
- Social Justice and Military Families

Begin the Journey with Us Tomorrow!

A Space for Service
Providers

Share your stories and perspectives about social justice as a service provider working with families, and supporting military families in this year's #MFRAcademy.

The Academy series includes a LinkedIn Group, intended to be a space for service providers to share their expertise and experiences. Join to share posts and resources that spark thought and conversation, and participate in Academy discussions!

Please forward this newsletter or our other learning opportunities to anyone within your communities or networks that may be interested in our #MFRAcademy.

We hope to see you at our MFRA panels and courses!

Sincerely,

Kalin Goble, M.S. (she/her)
